There is a very general impression that the inights of Labor struck work, and have refused to return to their shops, because the Texas & Pacific officials resisted a demand for the reinstatement of a discharged employe shall, the relies at the shop at Mar-shall, Tex.; and the railroad companies have done and are still doing their utmost to spread and coment that opinion in the public mind, ent in the companies' favor, and does that

The railroad officials point to the Knights of abor and say: "There are the men who have brottled traffic, who have taken the life out of business and brought about the chaos and uin that you are looking upon. There they are. They quit work because we discharged an employe, who deserved his discharge, but happened to be a Knight of Labor; and now, because we insist on our right to remove an ffending employe 20,000 men revolt and say we shall not be allowed to run our business." "This is their only grievance," say the milroad companies. "If they have other prevances we have never heard of them. This strike is for Mr. Hall and for nothing

CRAWFORD & CO.'S Mr. House says he has not heard of any other grievance and that what he has heard is no grievance at all, because the offense against Mr. Hall was committed by the Texas & Pacific, which is in the hands of the United ates Courts, and therefore beyond the jurisdiction of the Moloch whose High Priest of the West he is-Mr. Jay Gould.

Mr. Gould himself in an interview first pub-ished in the Post-Disparch of Monday, inists that there is no justification for the strike He allows a cross-eyed smile of Oriental in nocence to play athwart his features and handly says:

Not only now, but heretofore, Mr. Hoxle and d have stated that the Knights of Labor had no grievance except the discharge of Mr. Hall and that if they have any grievano they have never presented them.

The Knights say THIS IS A LIE. They say, too, that there can be only one bject for the publication of such a statement, nd that object is to mislead and misimpress The discharge of Mr. Hall precipitated the

And was the charge meant to do injury to Mr. Hall alone, or was it a fling of defiance, a red rag of insult shaken in the faces of the Gould system's al-ready misused and disrespected employes? Was it not a gage flung at the feet of the Knights of Labor by an opponent that had been gathering strength for the conflict, and that had intrenched itself, as it thought, be-

The Knights of Labor take the stand that the fight was forced upon them and that it was conceived in the manner here indicated and rounded with the preparations here suggested for the purpose of making one grand and vigorous effort for the subjugation of labor and the oppression of their order. Among the grievances which Mr. Palmer presented were two that Mr. Hoxie could hardly, even with his large ability to forget, have allowed to escape his memory.

One of these was a violation of the agreement of March, 1885, by the failure of the railroad company to restore, as that agreement provided, the wages of employes to the figures paid prior to September, 1884, and twenty-five or thirty cases were cited where men were not receiving the pay to which they were entitled.

At Marshall an attempt was made this morning to wreck a passenger train, but the rail that had been removed for this purpose was discovered a half-hour before the train started and thus a catastrophe was prevented. The Knights disclaim any connection with the outrage. At Austin discharged employes complain that they cannot get the wages due them and have appealed to the Justices in the hope of arriving at a settlement through the courts. Attempts have been make to run freight at other points, but the attempts have not been successful. Other attempts will be made to-day. At Little Rock all freight engines have been disabled and it is said the engineers and firemen have united in denouncing the Knights on this account. The strikers at Cairo, it is reported, endeavored to persuade the divers at work on the Iron Mountain incline to quit work, but the divers refused to listen to them. News from a few other points is of prefty much the same general tenor, and the situation remains undisturbed and as hopeless as it was at the beginning. Merchants of St. Joe complain of the injury done the stock-jobbing trade, and merchants at other places also make complaint, but do not blame the Knights particularly. Locally there is only slight relief noticeable. Freight is still immovable, but the Missouri Pacific succeeded in getting out its accommodation trains. Several rumors have been traveling rapidly into and out of this vicinity, but it is not period to assertain anything definite in regard to them.

Travel was light and matters very quiet at the Union Depot this morning. The 8 o'clock Kirkwood accommodation was sent on Airkwood accommodation was sent out promptly on time, there being no interference whatever on the part of the strikers. At the time the train left there were no strikers at the depot and no request was made of the engineer and fireman to leave their places. The train left like a shot, traveling at a high rate of speed. At 9:32 another Kirkwood accommodation was sent out, no trouble being experienced in starting it. A couple of police officers and a number of railroad detectives were on every train, and no strikers were allowed to board them. Efforts were made to enforce the injunction of the Circuit Court, keeping the strikers out of the yards of the company. The only places they can now stand are at the railroad crossings, which are public highways, and are not part of the company's yards. Railroad detectives and police accompany all trains to Benton, at the county lines, where Sheriff Allen of St. Louis County and deputies board them and take them to the western county limits. Orders have been given to get ready the 3:15 p. m., 4:35 p. m., 5:25 p. m. and 6:29 p. m. trains. The 5:25 p. m. is the Washington accommodation, but the railroad company only intend running it as far as Kirkwood. They will not attempt to run any accommodation trains out after 6:20 p. m. There is no talk of running any freights to-day by the Missouri Pacific, and it is questionable whether any attempt to do so will be made. The fact is freight brakemen cannot be secured at present and this is probably the reason no effort is made to get out freight trains. promptly on time, there being no interference

The case of carrying concealed weapons against Louis Haller, the painter arrested yesterday near the Missouri Pacific Machine Shops, was noile prosequied in the First District Police Court this morning. Haller went to work in the Machine shops since the strike and while going to work yesterday, displayed a revolver and Officer Doyle arrested him at the instance of one of the strikers for carrying concealed weapons. City Attorney Dyer entered the noile prosequi to-day in the case under instructions from Mayor Francis. The latter says Haller applied to him a few days ago for a permit to carry concealed weapons and was told if he would get the recommendation of some responsible citizens he would grant him the permit. Haller had received the recommendations of leading citizens, but did not again apply for the permit. The Mayor thought him entitled to one, however, hence the noile prosequie. Haller wanted the permit, he had stated, because his life was in danger working against the wishes of the strikers.

There was one singular thing about the figures concerning the employes, given by the railroad officials and this is that the actual strikers only number $.717 men. Mr. Devoy said that no matter which side is in the wrong the business interests of the city are suffering and he only asked the members to consider the resolution. Mr. Stone told Mr. Devoy not to offer the resolution, and opposed the step, assisted by Mr. Seddon. There was a discussion between Messrs. Devoy and Stone on the subject, which was finally settled by the Presideur ruling the resolution out of order. The resolution requested the Mayor to bring about a conference of the strikers and railroad officials for the purpose of arriving at a settlement.

the East St. Louis yards had struck this afternoon, thus inaugurating the troubles in East St. Louis. This was followed by another rumor to the effect that the engineers in the C., B. & Q. yards have also quit work, and that no freight was being received. A Post-DISPATCH reporter who drove over to the C., B. & Q. yards about 2:39 p. m. stound that all these rumors were entirely incorrect. Yardmaster Brocker was found in the midst of his men and he stated that they had all gone to work at l. p. m., and that none of them had talked of quitting. "There are no Knights of Labor in these yards," said Mr. Brocker, "except one switchman. The switchmen, however, in all the yards, are waiting to hear from that meeting of the freight officials in St. Louis. If the meeting refuses to agree to the advance in pay asked, the Chicago schedule, all the switchmen in the other yards, who are Knights of Labor, will go out as soon as the refusal is received. The men say they will not demand an increase unless the other roads pay the same. Inquiry at all the other yards showed that everything was quiet at 5p. m., but that trouble was expected. If the meeting refused the terms. the East St. Louis yards had struck this after-

The Engineers' Sympathy. Chief Engineer Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, will pass through the city to-night on his way to Sedalia, where, it is said, his presence is wanted to settle a wrangle among the engineers caused by his order to the Brotherhood to go out on their runs. The reason of the strong feeling existing among the engineers on this point is due to the fact that in the beginning of the strike a committee of six engineers met the Executive Committee of the Knights of Labor and pledged themselves to stand by the Knights in their demands. By obeying the order of the Chief, thereforefore, they are violating this pledge, and they naturally felt some soreness in being compelled to act against their avowed wishes. There is a theory among the engineers by which they explain Arthur's move in ordering them out. It is this: The engineers say that Arthur is convinced that in case the engineers stand by the Knights and refuse to go out the action will result in an amalgamation of the locomotive engineers with the Knights of Labor when the strike is settled, and an extinction of the first body as a separate and distinct organization. If this be the case, the engineers say, Arthur will undoubtedly lose his position and prestige as a consequence, and for this reason he took the only action which would be a sure protection to himself. of Locomotive Engineers, will pass through

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you please forward the inclosed check for $50 to J. J. McGarry as the contribution of Plasterers' Association No. 3 towards assisting the Knights of Labor in their struggle with Jay Gould. It is queer how the courts of this city and State throw their protecting shield over ballot stuffers, repeaters, etc., and when the magic name of Gould appears, they immediately issue injunctions against crimes which are not yet committed. Whether the Knights of Labor are successful or not in the present strike, if they have made the citizens of this country see the necessity of governmental control in raliroads, telegraph and other national necessities, their labor will not be lost.

The sum of $33 was received yesterday "from the Knights of Labor at N. K. Fairbank & Co.'s for the benefit of the striking Knights of Labor on the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain Roads." This donation was not acknowledged yesterday, although it was footed up in the total of the day's receipts, which was published as $108. The sum received yesterday, as shown by the contributions published, was $71, and, if to this the $32 be added which came from Fairbank & Co., the total, $103, will be reached.

THE literary prestige of Boston has been "split up the back" again, and this time it was JACK DEMPSEY, a jealous New Yorker, who did the work. If this dete rioration in Bostonian muscle continues the vain city will soon pass its meridian and begin to decline. If SULLIVAN whips JEM SMITH, the case will not be hopeless; but the present outlook is not encouraging to the disheartened Bostonese.

THE advertisement of the St. Louis wholesale merchants calling attention to the fact that there are one or two roads in St. Louis which do not join in the Gould boycott, savors of disrespect to the great benefactor of St. Louis. It should encourage the Merchants' Exchange to join in the general movement and apply to the courts for an order compelling the Gould system to resume its function as a common carrier.

THE law of New York forbids the directors or managers of any incorporated company to declare dividends "except from the surplus profits arising from the business of said corporation." But the Western Union monopoly, having used its $5,000,000 of net earnings in purchasing 'telegraph properties," has coolly declared a dividend on its $80,000,000 of tion as are pools and combinations, extended and combinations, extended and combinations of the combination of the combinations of the combination of the comb watered stock to be paid by an issue of and favoritism. more stock. nento, Vice-President Hoxie informs hairman Irons of the Knights of Labor Executive Committee that, while he is eady to confer with any individual employe of the companies he represents, he does not see that a meeting with a comnittee of the Knights of Labor represent ing the strikers would adjust the trouble. This refusal to deal with the strikers as a body or to recognize their organization in any way, is converted into a defiance and declaration of war by a paragraph giving notice that the resumption of busines on the Gould roads is to be accompanied with a reduction of the shop force. It seems to be intended that the men shall read between the lines of this letter a fair warning of the punishment that is to follow the defeat of the strike. It seems also that the resumption of traffic over his lines is only a secondary consideration with Mr. Gould; that he has in view some other object which is of more importance to him. Whether this object is a matter of stocknanipulation, the crushing of a labor organization, the boycotting of the oities and the shippers that have shown a tendency to rebel against conjecture. A Pugilistic Congressman.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch.
Washington, D. C., March 17.—Shortly be fore the House adjourned yesterday, some excitement was occasioned in the corridors by a one-sided posilistic exhibition in which the one-sided puglistic exhibition in which the participants were Representatives Bliss and Jesse Carman, son of the unsavory Gen. Carman, formerly of the Bureau of Agriculture. Parties who witnessed the affair, say that Mr. Bliss struck Mr. Carman three stinging blows in the face drawing the 'claret,' after which the Congressman returned to his business, and Mr. Carman departed from the scene of the fracas. The cause of the difficulty is said to be interference of some sort or other by Mr. Carman in the affairs of Mr. Bliss, at which the latter gentleman took offense.

Why, what is there to show that a schooner or any other kind of a craft smashed in the Oregon? who saw her? Not a soul, so far as I have heard. The first officer saw a light whisking past a cabin window. That is simply bosh. I was close enough to the ocean myself at the hour of the idisaster to know what kind of a night it was. I've rarely seen a clearer one. You could notice a vessel's salis away off. She couldn't come afoul of you without being under your eye for ever so long. Now, who is going to believe that the officers and look-outs saw nothing but a flash of light, and the vessels come together? Nonsense. I don't think there was any schooner stall. CHICAGO, March 17 .- A special dispatch from oston published here this morning, gives an interview with Frank Ordway, member of the firm of Ordway & Co., of that city, who was a passenger on the steamer Oregon. Mr. Ordway asserts very positively that the accident was the result of carelessness. He is of the opinion that the lookout and the officer in charge had their attention taken up by holsting the mail on deck and left the ship unprotected by a proper watch. He speaks with great planness of the pandemonium which, he says, prevailed on board the steamer between the time of the collision and the arrival of rescuing vessels, his account differing in a marked degree from the narratives of other passengers. Mr. Ordway says: "It was nearly two hours after the accident, when the flags and signals were run up and the signal-gun was fired. This was a little pop which couldn't be heard half a mile away. Rockets were fired. The passengers grew more and more excited, and after a steamer answered our signals, but sailed away from us, perfect pandemonium prevailed. There was no order whatever, and it was every man for himself. Officers, crew and passengers ran on deck swearing and cursing. Finally a pliot boat hove in sight and came toward us. We signalled, but those on the boat, as one told me afterward, could not make out what was wanted, as the signals were excitedly given. Had they not noticed that the ship lay on the water motionless, they would have sailed away. Through their glasses they saw that the passengers had life preservers on. They put out a little boat to find out what was the matter. The boats had been got out, but there was no discipline in handling them. It would have a station at such a time, but there was absolutely no discipline whatever. A rush was made for the boats by the men, petty officers, fremen and stokers, who acted like a pack of howling wild beasts. The women and children were utterly disregarded. interview with Frank Ordway, member of the Motion to Transfer the Dairy Question to the Supreme Court—New Suits Filed.

Mentioning briefly the conclusion of the Court of Appeals yesterday afternoon in the Boenninghausen habeas corpus case, relative to a prosecution under the dairy ordinance, it was inadverdently stated, in the hurry of going to press, that the court had sustained the ordinance. The opinion of Judge Thompson does not bear upon that point, but the offender was remanded to the custody of the Marshal on the ground that a writ of habens corpus should not be entertained by the Court of Appeals under such circumstances. This morning a motion was presented for the transfer of the case to the Supreme Court, and the matter was laid over until Tuesday.

Mrs. Magiro's Attorney Replies Court replying to the statements of Mrs. Magiro, his former client, relative to the collection of the alimony ordered by the Court. Mr. Goode states that ordered by the Court. Mr. Goode states that the exhibit of Mrs. Magiro is a wilful and malicious faisehood, and that it was instigated and designed, not to obtain justice or to express facts, but simply to injure and annoy affiant. He says that he did a considerable amount of legal work for Mrs. Magiro outside of the two divorce proceedings, and that he successfully defended a replevin suit by Jefferson D. Storts against Mrs. Magiro for about $1,500 worth of furniture. Subsequently he prosecuted Storts in the Police Court and Court of Criminal Correction for assault, etc. These services were never paid for. The court dismissed Mrs. Magiro's petition on account of some damaging letters containing facts which she concealed from her attorney.

Hance, who is wanted in Ohio for obtaining mor wanted in Ohio for obtaining money under false pretenses. It appears that last fall Hance was employed by J. T. McCaskey & Co. of Troy to sell fruit trees for them in Missouri on commission. In order to earn $45 Hance forged orders amounting to $1,700, and then left for parts unknown. It was discovered that the orders were forgeries when the firm went to fill them, but the whereabouts of Hance were not learned until lately, when he was traced by a letter. He was arrested by Detective Lawier, Sunday, at the Post-office, while calling for a letter it was known he would be around after. Hance has been indicted in Ohio for obtaining money under false pretenses, and an effort will be made to have him indicted here for forgery so that if the cases there do not stick, he can be tried here, where he committed the forgeries.

SUCCEEDED BY STANSFELD, who secured a triumph last night regarding the repeal of contagious diseases acts. Stansfeld is the member for Halifax, York, was Lord of the Admiratity in 1863 and 1864, the Indian Secretary in 1868, Third Lord of the Treasury in 1868 and 1861, Financial Secretary of the Treasury in 1869 and 1871, and was President of the Foor Law from 1871 to 1874. He is a graduate of the University of London and is 65 years old. Henry H. Fowler will also join the Cabinet, and there is some talk of Bright and Cowen. It is certain that Gladstone is to go straight ahead, even if this course lands him in the necessity of an almost immediate dissolution. Regarding this probability a politician, who is practically at the head of the Liberal organization of three Kingdoms, expressed the opinion last night that a general election will be held in June. Opinions differ about the effect of this crisis on Chamberlain's personal position. Many Radicals say it will make him the strongest man in the country, because English tax-payers will never tolerate being fleeced to the extent of £150,000,000, to be put into the pockets of the Irish landlords, who for generations have had much more than they deserved. A majority take the opposite view that Chamberlain is running the risk of blasting his political career and asks why he entered the Cabinet to desert it at the first strain. Chamberlain's personal great unpopularity prevents both Whigs and Torles acting with him, though both would be glad to use him as a tool.

Gen. Crook Denies Certain Rumors Regard-ing the Surrender of the Hostiles. has been received at the War Department reports recently received from private sources describing a meeting between cen. Crook and Geronimo on the border in which Geronimo absolutely refused to surrender and afterwards fied to the mountains, were entirely imaginative. Gen. Crook says he has not left his station at Fort Bowle, Ariz., and has not seen Geromino since the fight in Mexico, which resulted in the death of Capt. Crawford, at which time the Indians expressed a willingness to meet Gen. Crook and gave hostages as an evidence of good faith. After Capt. Crawford's death Lieut. Maus, who succeeded to the command, proceeded to San Bernardino, on the border, to await the arrival of the Indians. Since then four of the principal renegate chiefs arrived at the camp, and others were expected to follow soon after. Gen. Crook reports, in a telegram received yesterday, that he would leave in a day or two for San Bernardino to meet the Indians and arrange for their surrender.

The journey will take several days. The delay of the hostiles in reaching the border is explained at the War Department as being caused by the difficulty in collecting the bucks who had scattered among the mountains, and also because of the liberal ideas held by the Indians ir regard to time and dates.

Lane refusing to perform that obligation. The case was fought with desperation, the brothers contradicting each other in every instance. The whole neighborhood was brought to town as witnesses, and Samuel Lane introduced witnesses to impeach the testimony of his brother. No such case has ever before known to have been on record in Knox County for genuine scurrillity. The worst is feared in the next chapter of this deplorable affair, as much bad blood is stirred up over it.

A BRUTAL PEDAGOGUE.

A Boy's Hair Torn Out by the Roots for a Trifling Offense.

By Telegraph to the Post-Dispatch, rday swore out a warrant for the arrest of John Lattimore, assistant teacher at the Jefferson School, on a charge of assault and battery. The boys had been disorderly and Lattimore, losing his temper completely, ran among them, striking right and left, and catching one boy threw him into the air, letting him fall on a desk. He then turned and catching Carroll by the hair swung him out of his seat. The weight of the boy took the hair out by the roots, and he fell to the floor. The boy displays a baid spot several inches in diameter in corroboration of the story.

SHIN-KICKING.

A Mestch in the Brutal Sport at Orange,

N. Y.—Notes.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch.

New Your, March 17.—A shin-kicking match, or as it is known in sporting vernacular, a "purring" contest, was held in a barn in the rear of a salcon in East Orange, N. J., last Monday night. The men were Jack Fawcett and Will Wilson, and they contested for $100. They wore canvas jackets, knee breeches, no stockings, shoes with wooden soles, the tips of the toes being of iron. After the referee had informed the men that any kick above the knee would be a foul, each man grasped his competitor's coat collar and the sickening sport began. That it was not sickening to the forty persons collected in the barn was evidenced when, after some minutes of plunging and parrying, Fawcett landed his left toe upon Wilson's leg, laying open the flesh to the bone. This elicited a round of applause from the spectators, which was renewed when shortly afterwards Wilson retaliated upon his antagonist's shin. The sport then continued without any interruption, each thud of the iron toed shees upon the quivering flesh being followed by applause. So it went on for ten minutes, when Wilson began to show signs of weakening. His kick became less vidous, and he was unable to parry successfully Fawcett's blows. Five minutes later he fell powerless to the floor, and Fawcett stumbled over him. The latter arose, however, and as Wilson did not respond to the call of the referee, Fawcett was declared the winner.

FALSE RUMORS.

The Alleged Dangerous Illness of Ex-President Arthur.

By Telegraph to the Post-Disparch. NEW YORK, March 17 .- The severe illness of ex-President Arthur, coupled with the extraor-dinary reticence of his physician and the people of his household, has very naturally given rise to a great deal of gossip concerning his physical condition. Several times the story has gone forth that he was suffering, not has gone forth that he was suffering, not merely from the great American complaint of dyspepsia, but from an incurable disease which was destined to carry him off within a short time. Bright's disease has been named several times. Yesterday the gossip was intensified by a couple of dispatches to New York and Albany, claiming that a private letter had been received in Washington from an intimate friend of Gen. Arthur in this city, who went so far as to state that his death was a matter of a fortnight and that all reports of a mild disorder were to be taken with a grain of sait. These dispatches caused considerable sensation, and the friends of the ex-President denounced them as false witnesses in every particular. They said that no friend could possibly have written such a letter for the reason that friends understood perfectly the condition of Gen. Arthur. An intimate friend of the ex-President said last evening that he had seen Mr. Arthur within a week. He was suffering, as already stated, from indigestion and nervousness—nothing worse. He had been quite a sick man, but was believed to be geting better.

"There has been no talk among ex-President of the particular of the case of the cas

"There has been no talk among ex-President Arthur's friends," said this gentleman, a high legal official, "of any dangerous for any serious results from ils uncomfortable attack, I have seen him often since he returned to New York, and I am certain that I would know if he was suffering from any termination."

Gen. Arthur's physician, Dr. George A.
Peters, was reported yesterday as saying that there was absolutely no truth in the statements telegraphed from Washington. Dr.
Peters was not at home last evening up to a late hour, and seemed to have no desire to meet reporters.

When the Posr-Dispatch correspondent rang the bell of Gen. Arthur's residence, No. 123 Lexington avenue, a shock-headed youth came to the door and said no one could be admitted. There were lights in the basement and on the second-floor front, where the ex-President was. The rest of the house was darkened. Nearly a dozen hats were on the hatrack. The shock-headed youth said that the master was considerably better. The report that he was dangerously sick was untrue.
"Who is there in, that I can see?" inquired the correspondent.

that he was dangerously sick was untrue.

"Who is there in, that I can see?" inquired the correspondent.

"Nobody."

"Is Secretary Phillips in?"

"Don's know any such party."

"Is the nurse in?"

"No, she's gone out this evening."

"Yes, sir, but she's out."

"Yes, sir, but she's out."

"Yes, sir, but she's out."

"Yes, he is sitting up, but not dressed. He has esten some to-day, I don't know what. He is certainly getting better. No; I cannot take up your eard," and the shock-headed youth shut the door.

While this conversation was going forward the reporter saw a middle-aged woman, who looked very like a nurse, prepare something hot in a teacup and take it up-stairs to Gen. Arthur's apartment. Inquiries at the Union League Glub, at the Bar Association, the Fifth Avenue Hotel and Gilsey House revealed no information which was not in consonance with that given above by Gen. Arthur's friend. In Republican circles the Washington dispatches were generally discredited.

the suicide was a man aged about 60 years, named Otto Heilwagen, who lived not far from where he committed suicide. He lived mar to the place where the body of Ed. Hogan, the murdered man's body, was found on the 7th day of this month. In 1882 a brother of the suicide was hung at Rock Island, in this State, for the murder of his own son's wife. Up to this hour (ii o'clock) the body has not been recovered. No motive for the suicide is yet known, and the attorneys for the defense in the case of Ohris Neumann and his sons, arrested for the murder of Hogan, are, it is alleged, trying to create the impression that Heilwagen had something to do with the murder, and killed himself on that account.

ALLEN OR ZIEGLER.

A Man Arrested in This City for a Cold-Blooded Murder in Ohio.
On December 13, 1877, Reuben B. Cooper, a canalboatman, was found strangled to death on the banks of the canal at Massilon, O., and everything indicates that the murder was committed by Henry Ziegler, a fellow-workman. The two had always been the most intimate friends, but on the night previous had committed by Henry Ziegler, a fellow-workman. The two had always been the most intimate friends, but on the night previous had quarreled, and Zeigler threatened to choke Cooper to death. The latter was last seen going toward the canal with Ziegler dragging him along. Just after the commission of the crime Zeigler disappeared and has never again been seen in or about Massilon. Recently a resident of the place who happened to be in St. Louis, ran across a man whom he immediately recognized or at least thought he recognized as Zeigler, and informed the police here of the fact, giving them the man's address. Yesterday morning Sheriff A. Leininger of Stark County, Ohio, and Detective Andy Danglelsen arrived here and in the evening Officers McGrath and King arrested the suspected party. Danglelsen, who knows Zeigler, thinks the man is the right person, but as he has not seen Zeigler for nine years, does not feel quite positive about the matter. The man arrested is known here as Mike Alien, and has been working around in livery stables and recently has been making a living by tattooing people. He claims to have been here at the time of the commission of the murder at Massilon, and denies having ever been at the latter place. A police officer here says he has known Alien for fifteen years past, and it is the general opinion of the local authorities that he is not the man wanted, although he is said to answer the description in every particular. It is the intention to send to Massilon for another party who knows Zeigler well, and have him declare whether or not Alien and Zeigler are one and the same party.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

ed Injunction Against Water Works Buildings—Items of News.

A rumor which obtains considerable creence to-day is to the effect that Mayor Joyce intends to make application for an injunction restraining the contractors of the Water Works Company from proceeding further in the work of tearing up the streets and laying mains until they produce conclusive evidence that they are working in good faith and intend to carry the contracts through to completion. City Attorney O'Melveny said this morning that City Attorney O'Melveny said this morning that the Mayor had not notified him to get out the necessary papers for such a proceeding, and he did not believe Mr. Joyce had any such intention. Mr. Joyce himself was in Believille and hence the rumor could not be verified. The reasons which, it is said, actuate the Mayor in taking such a step are that parties who have bills against the Water-works company do not know where to present them for payment, which factin itself, if true, is thought to be an evidence of bad faith on the part of the company, and also because the Mayor, it is alleged; had become imbued with the deathat the building of the works is to be made a means to favor the aspirations of a prominent member of the Board of Aldermen with which the Mayor is at outs.
